The Best of Boston

• or the past 25 years, downtown Boston has changed in some significant way almost daily. A gargantuan construction project with a cute name (the Big Dig) proceeded slowly but unstoppably, making a mile-long strip of prime real estate look like a scene from a post-apocalyptic movie before it finally looked better. Today, the elevated highway that once sliced across the city like a green scar is a distant memory, and the green we see everywhere is the color of trees, plants, and flowers.

A subterranean highway carries traffic through the new Boston, a modern metropolis that's also a relentlessly historic destination, with buildings of all ages and styles, from colonial-era to Frank Gehry's latest brainstorm. From the South Boston waterfront, once a wasteland of parking lots and fish carcasses, to the Back Bay, Boston's architecture is newer, taller, and more dramatic than before. Walking around downtown provides a good reminder: The building boom may overshadow the city's famous 18th- and 19th-century architecture, but even rampant development can't change central Boston's colonial character.

It's not perfect, of course. Nightmarish traffic, daredevil drivers, and grating accents don't help any city's reputation. Although Boston is the biggest college town in the world, it doesn't have much of a late-night scene. And far from gone is the inferiority complex epitomized by the description "like New York, but smaller." Still, as it has since 1630, Boston offers cosmopolitan sophistication on a comfortable scale, balancing celebration of the past with pursuit of the future.

Here's hoping your experience is memorable and delightful.

1 The Most Unforgettable Travel Experiences

- A Sky Full of Fireworks: The Fourth of July fireworks flash over the Charles River; Boston's New Year is hailed by the First Night show flaring above the Inner Harbor. See "Boston Calendar of Events," in chapter 2.
- A Ride on a Duck: Board a reconditioned amphibious World War II landing craft (on Huntington Ave. near the Prudential Center, or at the Museum of Science) for a sightseeing ride that includes a dip in the river for the Duck boat, not you. See p. 174.
- An Afternoon Red Sox Game: Since 1912, baseball fans have made pilgrimages to Fenway Park, the "lyric little bandbox of a ball park" (in John Updike's words) off Kenmore Square. Soak up the atmosphere and bask in the sun. See p. 185.
- A Walk Around the North End: Boston's Little Italy (but don't call it that!) has an old-world flavor you won't want to miss. Explore the shops on Salem Street, and be sure to stop for coffee and a pastry at a Hanover Street caffe. See "Welcome to the North End," on p. 169.

2 The Best Splurge Hotels

- Charles Hotel, 1 Bennett St., Cambridge (C) 800/882-1818). Steps from the hubbub of Harvard Square, the unfailingly elegant Charles is a sanctuary of contemporary design and traditional pampering. See p. 94.
- Eliot Hotel, 370 Commonwealth Ave., Back Bay (© 800/44-ELIOT). Location and layout give the Eliot the feel of a luxury apartment building. Business amenities and elegant traditional furnishings contribute to its seamless blend of commerce and comfort. See p. 86.
- Four Seasons Hotel, 200 Boylston St., Back Bay (© 800/819-5053).

3 The Best Moderately Priced Hotels

- Charlesmark Hotel, 655 Boylston St. (@ 617/247-1212). The Charlesmark's thoughtful features—plush bedding, free local phone calls, friendly service, custom-designed everything—more than make up for the modest size of the rooms. Bonus: Units at the front of the building overlook the Boston Marathon finish line. See p. 90.
- Doubletree Guest Suites, 400 Soldiers Field Rd., Brighton (@ 800/ 222-TREE). Every unit here is a spacious two-room suite. The location, straddling Boston and Cambridge, is especially good if you're driving. See p. 92.
- Harborside Inn, 185 State St., downtown (@ 888/723-7565). Hardwood floors and exposed-brick walls give

The best hotel in New England has everything—and what it doesn't have on the premises, the incredible staff will track down. Superb service, plush accommodations, and lavish amenities make a stay here unforgettable. See p. 83.

• Boston Harbor Hotel, Rowes Wharf, Waterfront (C 800/752-7077). Dazzling architecture, a great location, and maniacal attention to detail—the latest guest-room renovation added curved trim that echoes the hotel complex's signature arch add up to pampering on a suitably dramatic scale. See p. 71.

this updated 19th-century warehouse its character. Close to downtown attractions, it's convenient to the nearby Financial District. See p. 75.

- MidTown Hotel, 220 Huntington Ave., Back Bay (@ 800/343-1177). A unique combination of comfortable, no-frills rooms and a handy location make this hotel the most motel-like lodging in central Boston. And the cheapest guest parking in the Back Bay can save you as much as $25 per day. See p. 91.
- Newbury Guest House, 261 Newbury St., Back Bay (C) 800/437-7668). This place would be a bargain even if it weren't ideally situated in the heart of Boston's best shopping. Room prices even include continental breakfast. See p. 91.

4 The Most Unforgettable Dining Experiences

• Durgin-Park, 340 Faneuil Hall Marketplace (© 617/227-2038). This Boston institution has packed 'em in since 1827. It serves classic New England fare in abundant portions at communal tables, delighting everyone from local tycoons to visiting toddlers. Well, almost everyone: The famously crotchety staff is so much a part of the legend that some people are disappointed when—quite often—the waitresses are courteous and pleasant. See p. 115.

- Legal Sea Foods, 255 State St. (C 617/227-3115), and other locations. Like the culinary equivalent of a medical specialist, Legal's does one thing and does it exceptionally well. It's a chain for a great reason: People can't get enough of the freshest seafood around. See p. 106.
- Mr. Bartley's Burger Cottage, 1246 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge (C 617/354-6559). Trends in food and fashion come and go, and this neighborhood sees them all. Luckily, Harvard Square has a place that puts the "comfort" in comfort food. Bartley's is famous for its juicy burgers, incredible onion rings, and a downto-earth atmosphere that's increasingly rare in these parts. See p. 133.

- Pizzeria Regina, 11½ Thacher St. (C 617/227-0765). With its redand-white-checked tablecloths and fiery oven, Regina's does look like Hollywood's idea of a pizza joint. After one bite of that slightly smoky crust, you'll be sending Martin Scorsese to the back of the line. See p. 114.
- Ye Olde Union Oyster House, 41 Union St. (@ 617/227-2750). Wise guys sneer about all the tourists, but the Union Oyster House is a local favorite for a reason—the unbeatable combination of historic atmosphere and traditional food that's drawn crowds since 1826. See p. 115.

5 The Best Free (Or Almost Free) Things to Do

- Picnic by the Water: Head for the harbor or river, relax on a park bench or patch of grass, put away your watch, and enjoy the spectacular scene. Whether it's sailboats or ocean liners, seagulls or scullers, there's always something worth watching. My favorite spot is Sargent's Wharf, on the edge of the North End, but it's just one of thousands of pleasant spots. See chapter 7.
- Visit a Museum: Schedule your visit to take advantage of free or reduced admission at certain times. The USS Constitution Museum is free all the time; the Museum of Fine Arts is free after 4pm Wednesday; the Institute of Contemporary Art is free after 5pm Thursday; and the Children's Museum costs just $1 after 5pm on Friday. See chapter 7.
- Take a Ranger-Led Tour: The National Park Service is such a good use of tax money. Free and cheap tours of historic attractions all over eastern Massachusetts elevate a visit to a park, a house, a neighborhood, or even a government installation (the Charlestown Navy Yard) from good to great. See chapters 7 and 11.

- Relish a Vicarious Thrill: Without so much as lacing up a sneaker, you can participate in the world-famous Boston Marathon. Stretch a little. Drink plenty of fluids. Claim a piece of sidewalk with a front-row view of the course. Cheer as the runners thunder past. Then put your feet up—you must be exhausted. See p. 187.
- Prowl Newbury Street: From the genteel Arlington Street end to the cutting-edge Mass Ave. end, Newbury Street—Boston's legendary shopping destination—is 8 blocks of pure temptation: galleries, boutiques, jewelry and gift shops, and more. Fortunately, window-shopping is free. See chapter 9.
- Check Out a College Concert or Show: Countless student groups just want an attentive audience, and the free or minimal admission can pay off in the long run. Imagine the credit card commercial: "Ability to say you recognized the talent of [insert name of big star] in a student production? Priceless." See chapter 10.

6 The Best Outdoor Activities

- A Ride across the Harbor: The ferry that connects Long Wharf and the Charlestown Navy Yard is a treasure hidden in plain sight. You might notice the boat traffic on the Inner Harbor as you make your way around downtown; for just $1.70, you can be part of it. See chapter 4.
- An Interlude at a Cafe: When it comes to good ideas, outdoor seating in a place with great people-watching is right up there with fire and the wheel. A passing parade of shoppers and students (on Newbury St. and in Harvard Sq.) is more interesting than suits and ties (downtown and the rest of the Back Bay), but if the breeze and the iced cappuccino are cool, what's not to like? See chapter 8.

7 The Best Museums

- Concord Museum: Always informative, never overwhelming, it shows and tells visitors enough about the town's history to help them make the most of a visit here. See p. 249.
- The Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum: The Gardner is a magnificent repository of art and nature in a building that's as impressive as anything hanging on the walls. See p. 144.
- The John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum: This library

8 The Best Activities for Families

• A Visit to Faneuil Hall Marketplace: Street performers, crowds from the world over, the food court, restaurants, bars, and shops make Faneuil Hall Marketplace (you'll also hear it called Quincy Market) Boston's most popular destination.  A Free Concert: The Boston area's cultural scene has no real off season. During the summer, many musicians and musical groups take their acts outside—to parks, plazas, and even a barge (behind the Boston Harbor Hotel). Plan well and you can enjoy music alfresco almost every night. See chapter 10.

• A Stroll (or Jog) along the River: The bike path that hugs both shores of the Charles accommodates pedestrians, runners, and rollerbladers, as well as cyclists. The Esplanade (adjacent to the Back Bay) offers both people-watching and gorgeous trees and shrubs; the Cambridge side has abundant seating and fabulous views of the Boston skyline. See chapter 7.

captures the personality of its charismatic namesake as well as the spirit that continues to make the Camelot era so compelling, all these years later. See p. 144.

• The Museum of Fine Arts: The MFA truly is world-class—and all over the place, you'll stumble on masterpieces so familiar that seeing them is like running into an old friend on the street. See p. 145.

It's conveniently located across the street from the harbor, where a stroll along the water can help your crew decompress. See p. 142.

 An Exploration of the Museum of Science: Your kids will revel in the displays and exhibits that cram every branch of science and inquiry into this enormous and child-accessible institution. See p. 146.

- An Excursion to the Public Garden: A perfect retreat during or after a busy day of sightseeing. Ride a Swan Boat, visit with the Mallard family of Make Way for Ducklings fame, admire the real birds, and marvel as the whole family starts to chill out. See p. 163.
- A Trip to the Children's Museum: The hands-on exhibits, noisy galleries, and overall air of discovery and excitement make this excursion catnip for the elementary-school set. See p. 172.

• A Thrill "Ride": The Mugar Omni Theater (at the Museum of Science) and the 3-D Simons IMAX Theatre (at the New England Aquarium) offer intrepid visitors hair-raising experiences in the safety of a comfortable auditorium. Most of the large-format films concentrate on the natural world. See p. 147 for the Mugar Omni Theater and p. 148 for the Simons IMAX Theatre.
