

Contents

Part I: The Wonderful Lizard of Oz	9
Chapter 1: What Is the Lizard of Oz?	11
The Types of Bearded Dragons	12
Chapter 2: The Wild Life of the Bearded Dragon	20
Temperature Regulation	20
Predator and Prey	25
Beardie Social Interactions	26
Bearded Dragons as Pets	28
Courtship and Mating	29
Chapter 3: Beardies in and out of Oz	31
Australian Wildlife Crises	31
How the Bearded Dragon Left Oz	35
An Australian Perspective	39
Part II: Your Pet Bearded Dragon	43
Chapter 4: The Biology of Beardies	44
Beardie Anatomy	44
Beardie Physiology	46
Beardie Senses	48
Chapter 5: Choosing a Pet Bearded Dragon	50
Bring Home a Healthy Beardie	50
Color Variations and Designer Beardies	52
Where to Get Your Bearded Dragon	55
Chapter 6: Setting Up Your Beardie's Home	59
Indoor Housing	59
Lighting the Lizard of Oz	64
Providing Heat	66
Cage Cleaning and Maintenance	70
Outdoor Housing	71
Part III: Caring for Your Bearded Dragon	77
Chapter 7: Feeding Your Bearded Dragon	78
Fruits and Veggies	79
Commercial Lizard Foods	80
Insects	80
Feeding Babies—Newborn to 4 Months Old	82
Feeding Adults—4 Months to Adulthood	84
Water for Your Beardies	87

A photograph of a bearded dragon lizard resting on a weathered wooden log. The lizard is facing right, with its head slightly raised. Its body is covered in textured, scaly skin with various shades of brown, tan, and grey. The background is a light-colored, sandy or gravelly surface with some small, dark debris.

Chapter 8: Keeping Your Beardie Healthy	90
Choosing a Veterinarian	90
Hereditary Diseases	91
Nutritional Disorders	92
Traumatic Injuries	94
Infectious Diseases	95
Parasitic Infections	99
Handling Do's and Don'ts	104
Dystocia	107
Neurological Disorders	107
Environmental Toxins	108
Brumation	109
Chapter 9: Breeding Bearded Dragons	110
Sexing	110
Conditioning and Nutrition	111
Getting to Know You	112
Egg Laying	113
Incubating Bearded Dragon Eggs	114
Hatching Eggs	117
Baby Dragons	118
Appendix: Learning More About Your Bearded Dragon	119
Some Good Books	119
Magazines	119
Internet Resources	120
Reptile Veterinarians	121
Shows, Expos, and Swap Meets	121
Shopping on the Internet	122
Index	124